Job title: Stack Testing Technician

Location: Pelham, Alabama

About the Company:

Started in 1993 as a testing and consulting firm to the coal fired utility industry, ICT has earned a reputation as a results oriented company providing pulverizer and boiler testing, combustion troubleshooting, consulting, and training services to the coal fired utility industry. As a complement to our core combustion services and in response to increasing environmental regulations, ICT has added an environmental testing division, allowing the company to meet the needs of the power industry in all areas of the combustion process - from the pulverizer to the stack. Innovative Combustion Technologies, Inc. provides a unique environment that fosters individual growth and rewards performance to our productive team members.

ICT currently has positions open for persons with experience in performing air emissions testing per the EPA methods.
